

Editorial

The year 2021 was eventful and was particularly marked by the serious deterioration of the national security and humanitarian situation as well as an upsurge in the health crisis due to the advent of the Omicron variant of COVID-19.

Despite this difficult context, the UNFPA country office was able to record notable progress in the annual execution of its 8th cooperation program, in line for the 3rd consecutive year with positive trends in the indicators linked to our "3 Zeros". I would like to note that these promising results in 2021 were only possible with the strong commitment of the Government of Burkina Faso to whom I extend my warm congratulations and my sincere thanks for the quality and the close collaboration with all the ministerial departments, central and decentralized units, which made it possible to achieve very significant technical and financial execution rates.

I would like to extend our immense gratitude to the generosity and unfailing support of our technical and financial partners, namely the governments of Canada, Japan, the Netherlands, Denmark, South Korea, Luxembourg and France.

Humanitarian funds such as the CERF (Center of Emergency and Response Fund) and the PBF (Peacebuilding Fund of the United Nations General Secretariat) have also been of great catalytic contribution in our response to the crisis everywhere the needs of women and girls have been felt. Our interventions in Burkina Faso, in coordination with agencies and 4 UNFPA

Burkina Faso / Annual Report 2021 funds of the United Nations System, have all contributed to strengthening the empowerment, resilience and sexual and reproductive health rights of women and young people, including family planning, maternal health, the fight against violence based on gender, as well as the response to humanitarian emergencies and the promotion of social cohesion.

Indeed, our mottoof "leaving no one behind" has led us to intensify our efforts in terms of innovation and resource mobilization in order to strengthen the presence of our teams in humanitarian regions. This is in order to provide a faster and more efficient response to the urgency of the crisis.

I take this opportunity offered to me to pay a warm tribute in particular to all our colleagues and implementing partners in the field who, despite the very complicated conditions, demonstrated to us on a daily basis courage and unfailing commitment in deployment of activities. Congratulations and thank you to everyone!

Two years after the 25th anniversary of the ICPD (International Conference on Population and Development) in Nairobi, we reaffirm our promise to continue our march together towards the realization of the reproductive rights of girls and young people. Remember that bodily autonomy is not only a right, but the very foundation of other human rights. The Generation Equality Forum in 2021, to which the country has made strong commitments, reminded us that the freedom to dispose of one's body consists in having the right to make their own decisions and informed choices for their future.

The crises we have been through over the past 24 months, however, have somehow allowed the country office to reinvent itself and do things differently with more emphasis on measurable results and lasting impact.

Also, in line with UNFPA's new strategic plan 2022-2025, which asks us to adapt to a changing world, our efforts will now be directed towards accelerating and scaling up interventions that have demonstrated their effectiveness and efficiency, while basing our approaches on the six programmatic accelerators which are:

- A rights-based approach integrating the gender dimension;
- Innovation and digitization;
- Partnership, south-south cooperation and triangular financing;
- Data and evidence;
- The principle of leaving no one behind and reaching those most in need first; and
- Resilience, adaptation and synergy between
- development, humanitarian aid and peacebuilding efforts.

Investments in sexual and reproductive health rights are essential to benefit from the demographic dividend and boost the development of Burkina Faso during the coming years. So, with renewed energy, optimism, and momentum, I invite all partners to join UNFPA in ensuring universal access to sexual and reproductive health and rights and accelerating implementation of the ICPD25 Program of Action and the achievement of the three transformative results by 2030.

« Let's work together to realize a world where every pregnancy is wanted, every childbirth is safe and every young person's potential is fulfilled».

Gender Based Violence

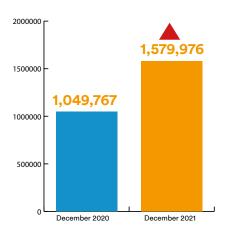

Context

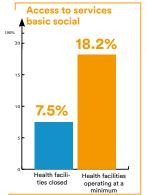

The year 2021 was marked by the persistence of terrorist attacks and intercommunity conflicts in certain regions of Burkina Faso. The state of emergency declared in fourteen (14) provinces of the country out of 45 remains in force. These inter-community conflicts and terrorist attacks have led to massive population displacements towards more secure areas.

The number of internally displaced persons (IDPs) increased from 1,049,767 people in December 2020 to 1,579,976 people in December 2021 (CONASUR, 2021), thus increasing the demand for reproductive health services as well as care for genderbased violence.

This security situation had an impact on the implementation of program activities in the field.

The new Coordinator of the United Nations System takes office

Before joining the United Nations, Ms. Manzi worked in the private sector and collaborated with non-governmental organizations, centers of study and analysis and universities on initiatives relating to issues of development, disaster management and rebuilding, as well as peacebuilding.

The UN and Youth: Turning Words into Action!

It is under this theme that the United Nations Day was commemorated on November 2, 2021 in Ouagadougou. On the occasion, the Resident Coordinator of the United Nations System in Burkina

Faso co-facilitated an intergenerational dialogue with leaders of youth organizations. Ms. Barbara Manzi praised the dynamism of young people in Burkina Faso for the achievement of the SDGs. It is committed to multiplying the frameworks for exchanges with young people in order to better take their expectations into account in the UN agenda.

Young people took the opportunity to formulate recommendations that will be turned into an action plan.

Protection against sexual abuse and exploitation

In 2021, UNFPA took the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse Champion role to the global level. One of the main organizational commitments during this period was to strengthen the inter-organizational mechanisms for the PSEA at the level of country operations.

By capitalizing on the achievements of the UNCT/HCT workshop led by OCHA in early 2021, and by involving a large number of stakeholders involved in humanitarian action and development aid, the GBV AoR's commitment has enabled to bring the network to 89 organizations, to organize meetings regularly, to finalize the PSEA strategy for the HCT and UNCT as well as the annual work plan aligned with the requests of the IASC.

Under the leadership of the Resident Coordinator of the United Nations System, Humanitarian Coordinator, UNFPA and OCHA organized a leadership dialogue engaging senior UNCT and HCT leaders as well as HCT observers, in mid-December 2021. This enabled the implementation of joint strategic approaches and the strengthening of collective work. Following the arrival of the PSEA Coordinator in early December 2021, deployed by NORCAP to OCHA, UNFPA handed over the coordination role, temporarily provided by the GBV AoR, to OCHA.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION, ABUSE AND HARASSMENT

NO ONE SHOULD IGNORE THE RULES: NO EXCUSE!

We must at all times treat local people with respect and dignity.

- Sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment constitute wrongdoing by any UNFPA staff member or affiliated personnel.
- Sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment endanger the lives of people we have a duty to serve and protect.
- Sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment undermine discipline and damage the reputation of the United Nations.

NO EXCUSE; ZERO TOLERANCE WITH REGARD TO EXPLOITATION, ABUSE AND SEXUAL HARASSMENT.

Couple year protection increasing

Number of couple years of protection

The number of couple years of protection registered increased from 964,298 in 2020 to 1,199,772 in 2021, corresponding to an increase of 24%.

This is the result of enormous efforts to create demand, supply and access to services, but also the availability of a varied range of contraceptive products. This result is in line with the objectives of the National Economic and Social Development Plan (PNDES 2021-2025) and the National Plan for the Acceleration of Family Planning (PNAPF 2021-2025).

Complications related to unsafe abortions are one of the leading causes of death for girls aged 15-19.

Support to midwifery institutions essentially consists of capacity building of training schools through:

- Equipment in anatomical and medico-technical models for the laboratories of skills
- ► The update of supervisors of internship sites for best practices in EmONC, family planning, fistulas and female genital mutilation
- Post-training follow-up, revision of curricula
- ▶ Provision of reference documents and rolling stock.

New users of Family planning on the rise

105,132 new family planning users recruited through innovative strategies, including 47,721 during the national family planning week.

National Family Planning Week is an opportunity to conduct advocacy at the highest level and ensure strong social mobilization in favor of family planning. It takes place for a week throughout the national territory and is characterized by the free supply of family planning services. In 2021, the national family planning week held from May 3 to 9 resulted in the registration of 84,952 users, including 47,721 new users compared to 81,365 in 2020.

The «Macopine» strategy

It is a family planning service offer strategy based on midwives who intervene not only in support of health facilities but also who participate in the creation of demand and service supply in the field with women's groups.

Beyond family planning, this strategy has enabled in 2021:

- To pay for 3,136 prenatal consultations;
- To pay for 713 postnatal consultations;
- To assist with 222 births.

La Planification Familiale en contexte de crise humanitaire: préparation, réponse, résilience.

13-16 DECEMBRE

The 10th Annual Meeting of the Partnership of Ouagadougou took place from December 13 to 16, 2021 under the theme: «Family planning in the context of a humanitarian crisis: preparedness, response and resilience".

During the opening ceremony, Auguste Kpognon, UNFPA Resident Representative recalled, on behalf of Mrs. Argentina Matavel Piccin, Regional Director of UNFPA, that UNFPA works strategically to the promotion of family planning and grants special attention to vulnerable groups and marginalized by favoring the nexus approach «Peace - Development-Humanitarian action". This clear-cut willingness is is embodied in its new Strategic Plan 2022-2025, whose motto is to accelerate and scale up the implementation of interventions that have demonstrated their effectiveness and efficiency.

A PROPOS DE L'APPROCHE DE REDEVABILITÉ

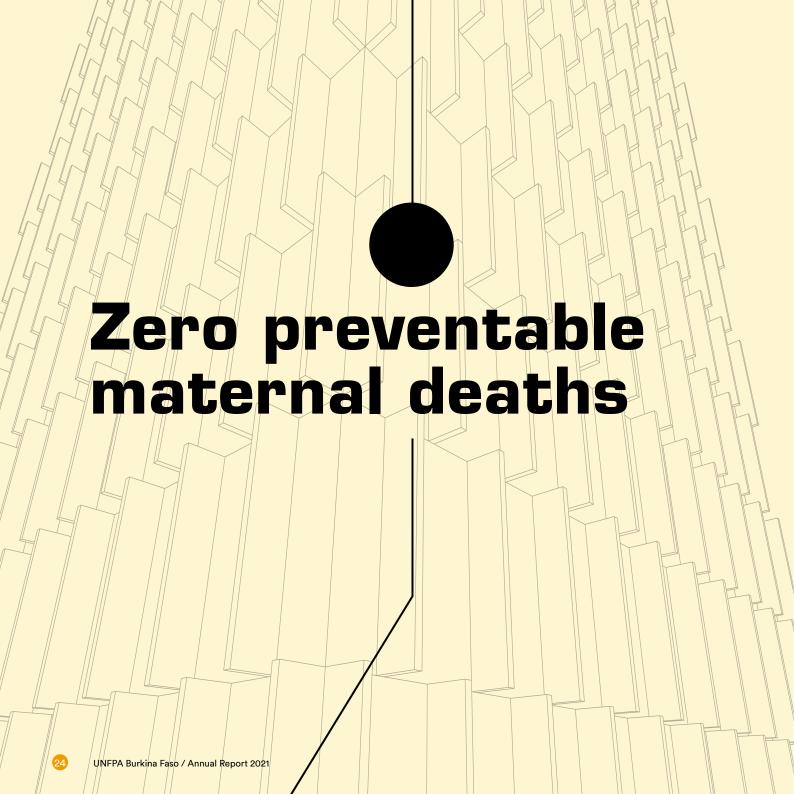

Le processus d'élaboration des nouveaux engagements s'est bâti sur une évaluation collective des progrès accomplis par rapport aux engagements antérieurs en matière de santé de la reproduction/planification familiale d'une part, et d'autre part, sur les référentiels nationaux en cours d'élaboration. Pour le suivi des engage ments FP2030, l'approche de redevabilité va s'appuyer sur l'expérience du Motion Tracker qui prône tout au long de son processus l'approche inclusive. Les données issues des autres outils tels que le PMA-Burkina, le Scorecard, les annuaires statistiques, le DHIS2, le Track20, les comptes nationaux de santé et le cadre commun seront également utilisées. Les mécanismes de redevabilité sociale du niveau infranational tels que les cadres régionaux seront mis à profit pour la collecte des données au niveau local et la dissémination des rapports de suivi de la mise en œuvre des engagements. La société civile en tant que partie prenante essentielle de la mise en œuvre des engagements sera impliquée dans tout le processus de suivi des engagements. En matière de visibilité et de transparence, les différents rapports de suivi des engagements feront l'objet d'une dissémination et partage à travers différents canaux : rencontres individuelles avec les autorités nationales, atelier de partage des résultats. plateformes internet.

Family planning: Burkina Faso renews its commitments for the FP2030 agenda

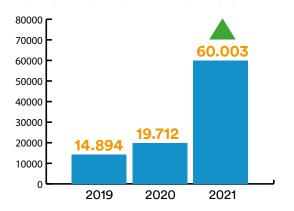

As part of the acceleration of the demographic transition to capture the demographic dividend, Burkina Faso has chosen to make family planning one of the major strategies for its economic and social development. Burkina Faso has therefore renewed its family planning commitments for the period 2021-2030, during the official launch ceremony chaired by the Minister of Health, Professor Charlemagne Ouédraogo.

Ending Child Marriage

To save girls from child marriage, a monitoring system is put in place. This system consists of several actors. It is essentially:

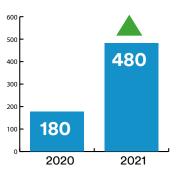

- Local monitoring units at village level made up of 4 people
- Advisory Support Technicians, mentors and supervisors. Government social action and justice services are often called upon to support and advise girls.

Ending Female Genital Mutilation

330 villages publicly committed against FGM and CM through public declarations of abandonment of these practices which were made after 480 consensus meetings in the said villages (180 in 2020). Monitoring cells have been set up to monitor these declarations.

16 days of activism for end GBV

The 16 Days of Activism against gender-based violence against women and girls is part of an international campaign that takes place every year. This year marks its 30th anniversary, under the theme: «Orange the world: end violence against women now!».

More than 100 young people gathered in Ouagadougou to discuss the theme of «positive masculinity as an inclusive alternative in the fight against gender-based violence »

Accelerating progress on gender equality

The Generation Equality Forum (GEF) is a global gathering for equality between women and men. It is an opportunity to measure progress in terms of gender equality and to mobilize States, the private sector and civil society around commitments to eliminate persistent inequalities. UNFPA co-led the Coalition for action on « Right to Self-Determination, Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights» alongside Argentina, Burkina Faso, Denmark, France, and North Macedonia, as well as the GFF, Rights and Health Alliance, and IPPF. This coalition focuses on the full recognition of sexual and reproductive health rights (SRHR), an essential condition for sustainable and inclusive development.

With support of UN agencies, the Minister of Health, Professor Charlemagne Ouédraogo participated in the Generation Equality Forum which was held in Paris from June 30 to July 02, 2021

We have the power to say NO! The right to say YES!

«Generation equality: what contributions of young people for a Burkina Faso without any form of gender-based violence»

It is under this theme that the young people that were gathered discussedduring an intergenerational dialogue to share experiences in order to strengthen the transformative potential of adolescents.

The exchanges aimed to encourage the emergence of a generation aware of gender equality and driving change in the lives of communities.

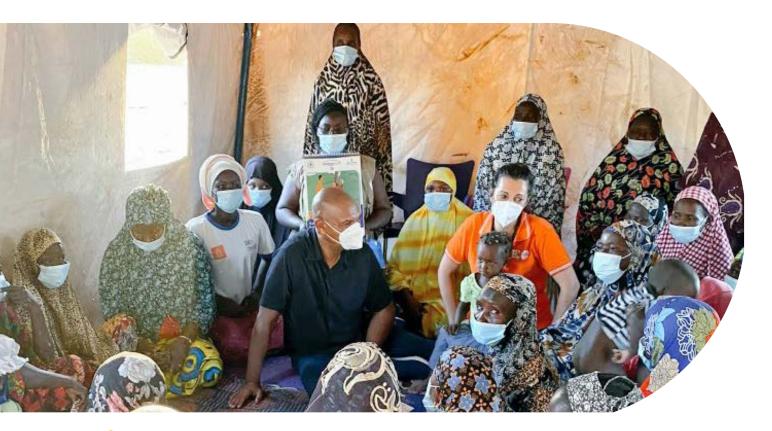

Mrs. Sika KABORE, Spouse of the Head of State chaired social mobilization activities in favor of the Generation Equality Forum.

UNFPA made a substantial contribution to the implementation of activities for the mobilization in favor of the Generation Equality Forum.

Strengthening young people's access to quality reproductive health services: UNFPA and TRIGGERISE are now partners to promote sustainable healthy behaviors among adolescents and young people.

- Measure the impact of different demand creation channels that engage young people
- Understand young people's behavior regarding access to sexual and reproductive health (SRH) services
- Evaluate the experience of young people on the quality of the SRH service offer received in the referred health centers via the QG Jeune platform

Innovation at the heart of implementation programs

Innovation is essential to accelerate the implementation of our programs and to act on a larger scale for the realization of the action plan of the International Conference on Population and Development and to achieve our three transformative results by 2030.

In Burkina Faso, the country office has set up an "Innovation Task Force" whose objective is to conceptualize and develop innovative projects.

Pipeline of innovative projects

- Virtual currency to encourage the use of Sexual Health services and
- Reproduction of Adolescents and Young People through the QG Jeune interactive platform
- A workshop to develop innovative solutions
- The digitalization of the traditional tontine to strengthen the empowerment of women
- Taxi Motos powered by QG Jeune whose objective is to offer opportunities
